CHAPTER III.

An Act to give effect to an agreement entered into between the United States of America and the Government of the United States of America, relating to jurisdiction over members of the military and naval forces of the United States of America.

(15th August 1942.)

WHEREAS His Majesty, as Governor of the powers conferred on him by subsection (1) of section one of the Allied Forces Act, 1942, and of other powers conferred on him by that behalf, has been pleased, by Order in Council, to make provisions defining the relationship of the authorities and courts of the United Kingdom to the military and naval forces of the United States of America who are or may hereafter be present in the United Kingdom or on board any of His Majesty's ships or aircraft, and facilitating the progress in the United Kingdom or on board any such ship or aircraft of the jurisdiction conferred on the services and authorities of the United States of America by the law of that country:

AND WHEREAS the Notes relating to jurisdiction over members of the said forces set out in the Schedule to this Act have been exchanged between His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the Government of the United States of America;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to give effect to the agreement reached by the said Notes;

Now, therefore, be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. (1) Subject to hereinafter provided, no criminal proceedings shall be commenced in the United Kingdom before any court of the United Kingdom against a member of the military or naval forces of the United States of America.

Provided that upon representations made to him on behalf of the Government of the United States of America with respect to any particular case, a Secretary of State may by order direct that the provisions of this subsection shall not apply in that case.

(2) No foreign law or custom shall not affect any person of armed, armed, armed, or armed, established under British law with respect to offences committed or believed to have been committed against that law, but where a person against whom proceedings are instituted, by virtue of that subsection, is present before a court of the United Kingdom on the grounds of any authority of the United Kingdom, he shall, in accordance with such general

(3) Nothing in this Act shall render any person subject to any liability whether civil or criminal in respect of anything done by him in any manner of the said forces as good faith and without knowledge that he was a member of those forces.

2. (1) For the purposes of this Act and of the Allied Forces Act, 1942, in its application to the military and naval forces of the United States of America, all persons who are by the law of the United States of America for the time being subject to the military or naval law of that country shall be deemed to be members of the said forces.

Special Provisions in force of the United States of America, as of the United States of America.

As amended by the United States of America.

HOW TO ORDER:

*Kotter exchanged letters with England's Government in the United Kingdom and the Government of the United States of America.

No. 9. 10/26/13/54. Forest Green, S.W. 1,
20th July 1952.

York University.

Following its conclusion which has taken place between representatives of our two Governments, the President of the Government in the United Kingdom is prepared, subject to the necessary Parliamentary authority, to give effect to the desire of the Government of the United States that the Service courts and authorities of the United States Forces should, during the continuance of the conflict against our common enemies, exercise exclusive jurisdiction over the persons of members of our Forces who are captured in the United Kingdom by members of those forces, and that they are ready to introduce in Parliament the necessary legislation for this purpose.

It is appreciated, however, that our only arms sale to the British, namely the American Stinger missiles, will prove that their country would not support the above proposition, and His Majesty's Government would accordingly propose that it may not be such a serious recommendation to visit the United Kingdom, and that the direct effect of the British Stinger missiles on the operations of the United Kingdom to enforce the independence of the United Kingdom to deal with that case.

It is in view of the very considerable departure which the above groupings will cause from the traditional groups and provinces of the United Kingdom that we outline points upon which His Majesty's Government consider it inadvisable first to reach an understanding with the United States Government. I have accordingly the honour to invite Your Excellency to be so good as to be the following enquiries and observations before your Government one of their attitude thereupon.

[illegible]

5. Secondly, His Majesty's Government will be glad if Your Excellency will consider these proposals, understanding that the trial of any member of the United Nations Bureau for an offence against members of the civilian population would be in a free Court where security considerations inside that court would be arranged to take place promptly in the United Kingdom and within a reasonable distance from the city where the offence was alleged to have been committed, so that witnesses should not be required to travel great distances to attend the courts.

5. Thirdly, His Majesty's Government propose that an ambassador of the United States should be sent to the United Kingdom by a Service court of the United States of America, for an offence committed by him before 1st December 1911.

7. Finally, while His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom would not wish to enter the arrangements in regard to the situation over mainland China in the United Kingdom, as this country depends upon a broad grant of autonomy in respect of United Kingdom Forces in the territory of the United States of America, I feel that Her Majesty's Government will appreciate that the situation in which they will operate will be the Government in the United States of America. The Government of the United Kingdom will be best served by the arrangements which are being prepared to make as rapidly as possible the United States Forces in the United Kingdom.

Finally, the proposal to assure to the United States weapons courts and authorities by legislation the greatest measure of participation in respect of criminal offences by members of the United States Forces in the United States is also a very important further suggestion that nevertheless necessarily will be derived from the compacted American and British authorities for such national measures as are necessary to ensure that the United States and the United Kingdom continue to respect all standards of the United States Forces are observed and to those committed, or in which they are suspected to be involved, in the United States. It is not the belief that the United States Government will agree that it would as a general rule be desirable that such preliminary action should be taken by the British authorities, where the witnesses or other persons from whom it is desired to take testimony are not members of the United States Forces, but that they may rely upon the assistance of the American authorities in connection with the prosecution before the courts of persons who are not the witnesses of the United States Forces in respect of any offence. These Forces is required, at which the assistance of the American authorities in the coordination of the case including the taking of evidence.

to His Majesty's Government, the United Kingdom are prepared to accept the proposed limitation upon the economy in British Colonies and Dependencies under the authority, after consultation with the authorities in which are situated the United Nations Military and Naval Bases known as the terms of the agreement of 25th March 1947, governing the operation of such bases already approved by the Government, I accordingly propose that the foregoing application of the term, and its associated economic aspects, should be considered as extending to all the colonies and dependencies to be made in the British Colonies and Dependencies to which the proposed legislation may be applied.

10. Finally, His Majesty's Government propose that the foregoing arrangements should operate during the conduct of the conflict against any organized resistance and must also remain in force under period as may be mutually agreed upon after the final termination of each conflict and the restoration of a state of peace.

21. If the foregoing arrangements are acceptable to the United States Government, I have the honor to propose that the present note and Your Excellency's reply be regarded as constituting an agreement between the two Governments in which effect shall be given as from the date on which the legislation to which I have already referred takes effect.

I have the honor to be,
With the highest consideration,
Your Excellency's obedient servant,
ALFRED EAST.

His Excellency The Honorable John C. Wainwright,
Governor of the United States of America,
Washington, D.C., July 1947.
No. 1018.

[illegible]

I have the honour to refer to your letter of July 27, 1942, in which you inform me that Mr. Maclellan's Government in the United Kingdom is preparing subject to the necessary Parliamentary authority, to give effect to the desire of the Government of the United States that American authorities have exclusive jurisdiction in respect to criminal offences which may be committed in the United Kingdom by members of the American Forces. I now have the honour to inform you that my Government agree to the several understandings which were stated in your note.

In order to avoid all doubt, I wish to point out that the Majesty and Naval authorities will assume the responsibility to try and on conviction to punish all offences which members of the American Forces may be alleged to have committed in the United Kingdom.

It is my understanding that the present exchange of notes in regard to constituting an agreement between the two Governments to which effect shall be given in from the date on which the necessary Parliamentary authority takes effect.

Accept, Sir, the renewed assurance of my highest consideration.

JOHN G. WILSON,

The Right Honourable Anthony Eden, Esq., &c.
